NEW YORK (AP) — James R. Hoffa, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was indicted today on five counts of perjury by a federal grand jury.

The indictment charged that the 44-year-old union leader, a candidate for the presidency of the Teamsters to succeed Dave Beck, lied to the grand jury, during its probe into alleged wiretapping of Teamster headquarters in Detroit.

The grand jury also indicted Benjamin Franklin Collins, secretary-treasurer of Local 299, which is headed by Hoffa. It accused him of 12 counts of perjury in connection with the same investigation.

By G. WILSON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probes called for testimony today on reports that James R. Hoffa kept on a local union's payroll some Teamsters officials serving prison terms for extortion.

The story, as related by committee aides, involved Teamster Local 614 at Pontiac, Mich., which they said Hoffa took over as trustee.

Details of a Teamsters Union loan to a Minneapolis department store and of Hoffa's own interest in a horse race betting partnership were other scheduled subjects of testimony as the special Senate committee continued its probe into activities of the Midwest Teamsters boss.

Hoffa has testified he draws $5,000 to $10,000 a year from betting on horse races in partnership with Owen Bert Brennan, a Detroit Teamster official. Brennan has been summoned as a witness.

Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) announced he has arranged for an independent doctor to check on what was tentatively diagnosed as a heart attack suffered by Benjamin Dranow, Dranow, heads the John W. Thomas department store in Minneapolis, which allegedly received a million-dollar loan of Teamster funds from Hoffa to help it ride out and recover from a strike by the retail clerks union.

In Miami Beach, Fla., where he is campaigning for the union's international presidency, Hoffa described the loan as a perfectly legitimate investment of pension funds.

Door Barred Again on Red China

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. General Assembly has barred the door to Red China for another year over bitter opposition from India and the Soviet bloc.

The Assembly voted last night in favor of a U. S. resolution to shelve the seating issue for the current session.

The vote was 47 in favor, 27 against and 7 abstentions — virtually the same lineup that defeated Peking's bid for a U. N. seat last year.

With the perennial Chinese question out of the way, the Assembly resumed its general debate.

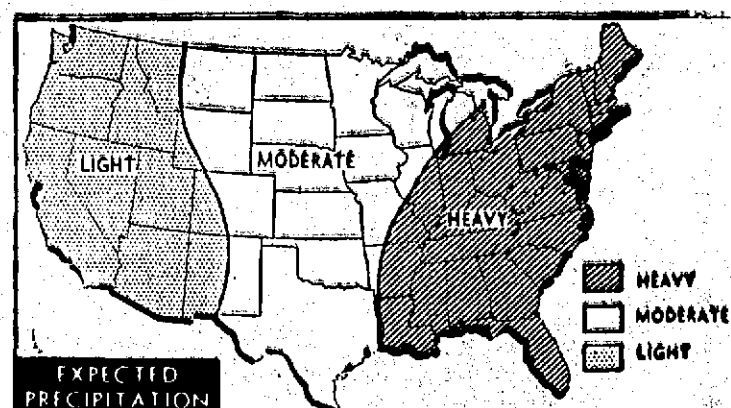

India spearheaded the Peking campaign with a proposal to place the issue on the Assembly agenda for formal debate. While failing, India succeeded in getting plenty of debate on the record — the main thing the U. S. resolution sought to avoid.

Tennessee Court Fines Georgia Man

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A Georgia man, charged with threatening a Negro waiter with a pistol shortly after listening to President Eisenhower's address concerning Little Rock integration, today was fined $100 in City Court.

Judge Riley Graham imposed $50 fines against Paul O. Hersey, 58, of Chamblee, Ga., for drunkenness and assault with a pistol. Hersey also was placed under $1,000 bond pending grand jury action on the pistol charge. Both fines were appealed and bond was made.

The Negro, Ezekiel Davis, told police he was sent to Hersey's room at a South Broad street motel last night with a meal for the Georgian. He said Hersey cursed him, threatened him with a pistol and referred to him as a "nigger."

Governors to Send Envoy to Washington

SEA ISLAND, Ga., (AP) — Southern governors, worried over states' rights because of federal troop intervention at Little Rock, Ark., today voted to send a committee to Washington, seeking withdrawal of the soldiers "at the earliest possible moment."

The resolution adopted at the Southern Governors Conference, grew out of a suggestion by Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee yesterday.

A five-man committee headed by Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina was named to seek a conference or conferences with President Eisenhower and Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas as soon as they can be arranged.

The resolution was adopted by an 11-1 vote with Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia, a Republican, casting the lone dissenting vote.

Other members of the committee are Govs. Clement, Marvin Griffin of Georgia, Leroy Collins of Florida and Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, the lone Republican in this group.

The governors, while adopting a Southern segregationist resolution, departed from that line in selecting Collins as chairman of the conference for the coming year.

The nominating committee by a two-to-one vote had nominated Griffin, an ardent foe of integration to succeed Hodges.

Communism Makes Most of Situation

LONDON (AP) — The Little Rock integration story was front-page news under big headlines in European newspapers today. Communist newspapers seized upon the story for barbed attacks on the United States.

A Moscow newspaper, Soviet Russia, said "Little Rock disclosed the true face of democracy in America."

The Communist youth paper Komsomol Pravda, gave more than two front-page columns to a report of what it called "terrible deeds of white racists" and said these followed "so many beautiful words about freedom of the people in America." It added that American desegregation problems were developing at a time when U. S. representatives in the United Nations were complaining about an alleged lack of civil liberties in East European countries.

In Paris, a band of news scrawled the words "Vive faubus" across the walls of the U. S. Embassy. The reference was to Arkansas Gov. Faubus, U. S. prestige and popularity was believed to be taking its sharpest dive in France since the Suez crisis.

Dallas Wants More Time on Integration

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Dallas School Board has asked the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals to force a federal judge to slow down with his integration plans.

In a writ of mandamus, filed with the appeals court yesterday, the school board accused Federal Judge William A. Howell of Dallas of abusing his judicial power.

Judge Howell twice dismissed suits to desegregate Dallas schools. But on Sept. 9, after the Circuit Court of Appeals had twice reversed his rulings, Judge Howell ordered the Dallas school board to desegregate for the second half of this school year.

Army Troops Escort 9 Negro Students Into the Little Rock School

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says he ordered federal troops into Little Rock, Ark., because "mob rule cannot be allowed to override the decisions of the court."

In a hastily scheduled radio-TV address to the nation he appealed to the American people last night to unite in understanding that he had no choice but to dispatch the troops.

"Unless the President did so," he declared "anarchy would result."

And he emphasized that the troops are there "solely for the purpose of preventing interference with the orders of the court," which directed the admission of nine Negroes to Little Rock's Central High School.

Eisenhower said he personally knows that "the overwhelming majority of the people in the South—including those of Arkansas and Little Rock—are of good will united in their efforts to preserve and respect the law even when they disagree with it."

But he said at another point that "certain misguided persons many of them imported into Little Rock by agitators have insisted upon defying the law and have sought to bring it into disrepute."

In other nations he said "our enemies are gloating over this incident" and seeking to undermine the nation's prestige and influence around the globe.

He told why he flew from his Newport R. I. vacation headquarters to the White House — "the house of Lincoln of Jackson and of Wilson"—to explain the action of Wilson.

"I felt that... my words would more clearly convey both the sadness and the action I was compelled today to take and the firmness with which I intend to pursue this course until the orders of the federal court at Little Rock can be executed without unlawful interference."

Today he scheduled a return flight to Newport.

As he spoke last night, 1,000 paratroopers flew to Little Rock. The 9,900-member Arkansas National Guard prepared for its first day under Eisenhower's orders federalizing it.

Their mission: to make sure by force of numbers of arms if necessary that "demagogic extremists disorderly mobs" do not again prevent the seating of Negro children in the high school.

Eisenhower deplored the beatings and riots Monday, and the lack of sufficient action by local and state authorities to prevent them.

Gone was the Eisenhower who told a news conference last July 17 he could not imagine any circumstances requiring federal troops to enforce a court order because "common sense of America will never require it."

The Communist press wasted no time in affirming his reference to gleaming enemies. In cartoons and editorials, Ronc's L'Unita and Paris' L'Humanite raked Eisenhower with the same line: he acted Continued on Page Three

Soldiers Use Bayonet on Man, Club Another

By RELMAN MORIN
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Hard-eyed paratroopers, in battle dress and with bayonets at the ready, brought nine Negro students quietly into Central High School today in a new climax to the hate-filled struggle over integration in Little Rock.

One man was clubbed and another stabbed in the arm by the soldiers in fights that followed.

A few white students left the school after the Negroes entered, but there was no sign of a mass exodus. A school official said 1250 students were in class today, making 750 absentees. It was 50 more than yesterday when it was known the Negroes would not appear.

In an area two blocks wide around the high school, the paratroopers kept breaking up clusters of people, moving them back, herding them onto porches, and keeping the area clear.

They moved with swift, purposeful action.

It was in these operations that the two men were injured. C. E. Blake, 40, a railroad employee, tried to grab a paratrooper's rifle, soldiers said. The trooper quickly reversing it, struck Blake over the eye with the butt. He fell to the street but did not appear to be seriously injured.

Paul Downs of Springfield, Ark., got a bayonet cut in the arm apparently when he was too slow in obeying an order.

Jess Matthews, principal of the high school, reported "everything is calm inside the school and education is proceeding normally."

Outside the scene was identical with those that developed in the last two wars of the United States.

The high school was the command post.

A line of paratroopers, spaced about three yards apart, stood in the street fronting the school. Behind them, troops equipped with walkie-talkies, were stationed at strategic points all around the school.

Four soldiers stood just outside each of the first-floor doors and others guarded the long, slanting steps leading up from two sides to the main entrance.

They were all in olive-green battle dress, carrying rifles with short combat bayonets.

The commanders were there, on the school grounds.

A "front" began to develop before 8 a.m.

The first move came when Maj. James Meyers of San Antonio, Tex., ordered a squad of soldiers to disperse about a dozen boys and men who gathered around the gas pumps in a service station just across the street from the high school.

"Move on out," Meyers told the group.

Suddenly, but with no word, the men began walking down the sidewalks. They gulped soft drinks first and then dropped the bottles.

For a while an unearthly silence settled over the school. Only the squawking of the walkie-talkies, as messages came in from other points, broke the morning calm.

Then a bigger crowd began to form Continued on Page Three war is an order of the day. "I will use the full power of the United States including whatever force may be necessary to prevent any obstruction of the law and to carry out the orders of the federal court."

To those who think of Eisenhower as a compliant president, it may be pertinent to point out that the foregoing statement is the promise of a general not accustomed to violence not unused to challenge, not strange to trial not foreign to victory.

"I will use the full power of the United States," he said, "including whatever force may be necessary to prevent any obstruction of the law and to carry out the orders of the federal court."

CHAPTER XXVII

Something crashed. McKee knocked loudly. The silence inside was sudden and complete, then the door opened again slowly.

Florrie Brown was terrified when McKee introduced himself; so was Robert Brown in a different way. There was insolence and furious temper in his blue stare, his rigid stance.

The warfare in which the Browns had been engaged before he entered stopped in the face of a common threat. Bob Brown was a tall, slight, handsome high-strung fellow with an arrogant manner and raw nerves. He was holding a blood-stained handkerchief in his wrist, evidently where the cat had scratched him.

Florrie Brown wore an elaborate and expensive negligee with a coffee stain down the front and a tear in the sleeve that revealed some of her charms. She pulled it hastily around her. She was a good-looking girl, robust, lusty and completely unable to conceal her feelings.

Lying on the floor between them was a wad of bills, tens and twenties that Florrie had snatched from her husband. Both the Browns carefully ignored the money. So did the Scotsman. That he should have intruded in the middle of a quarrel between them was not fortuitous; from what he had been able to gather they were always quarrelling generally about money.

They waited tensely for the Scotsman to state his business. McKee did so. They both relaxed. On the previous Friday, Florrie Brown had been in Boston from Brown had been in Boston from 10 in the morning until 8 at night and Brown had been at work at the lab until 6 p.m.

He returned to his car through blanket's wetness had to feel for the fender and follow it in the total obscurity. He got in sat back, and waited.

Less than five minutes later Bob Brown came out and got into his own car a swagbuckling and expensive two-seater parked near the gate. His lights punctured the darkness faintly, faded as he shot off in the direction of the village. Just short of it he pulled up. McKee had to brake with caution; the greasy surface was wet. Brown was waiting for someone. It was a woman. She got into the car with Brown and they drove on. The woman who had joined Bob Brown was Crystabel Dilwyn.

There was a telephone booth on the grocery store porch. McKee crossed the road and telephoned Carney. Brown and Miss Dowlin were on their way into Providence town. "I'd like to know where they go, Lieutenant."

Carney said he'd put a man on

The Tasks were both at home. The Scotsman stumbled up a bank and across tussocks of grass his hands out, and Carlotta Task admitted him to a spacious kitchen-dining-sitting room. It was warm and bright. The furniture was variegated well worn, comfortable and strictly for use; no avoidance of money here. Mrs. Task wore blue jeans and a man's white shirt and moccasins with rips in them. Her husband had been late at the plant and was showing. She said smilingly "I'll get him, Inspector."

Steven Task appeared briefly in the passageway at the far end of the room—a towel around his middle. He grinned, dove for his bedroom and came out in a robe and slippers.

Bob Brown was a boy; there was something unfinished immature in Felix Saterlee; Steven Task was a man. He was solidly built but his flesh was hard. He had brains; force great physical vitality and a combination of toughness and warmth that would be particularly attractive to women. Carlotta was his second wife and 10 years younger and obviously adored him.

"I know you're a busy man Inspector—what can we do for you?"

The Scotsman was equally direct, asked his questions about the previous Friday. Carlotta Task was sitting in a child's chair at a little table stringing beads. She let her hands fall, gave a cry.

"What were we... But—surely the police don't suspect us." Task seemed to think so. "Use your head lovely. We were in New York when Melville was killed—if he was killed—and we were right here when that fellow was bumped off next door practically under our noses."

Task had been at the plant from around nine a.m. until almost midnight; they were running tests on a new mud that had looked promising. Carlotta Task had spent the morning in bed, she had had a touch of sinus; in the afternoon she had gone to a Scout meeting. It was all apparently open and aboveboard and yet Steven Task was worried.

It was the revelation that Grant Melville had been a blackmailer that got to him. When McKee said so Steven Task froze. He sat staring like a man transfixed. Then he was up and on his feet pacing the floor, his hands thrust into his pockets his mouth a line.

"That dog," he said with controlled bitterness "now we know. I never liked him. Whoever killed Grant Melville ought to be given a bonus."

McKee said, "The fact that Melville was a blackmailer explains something to you Mr. Task, something important. What is it?"

"I know nothing."

"But you suspect something." "Suspicion isn't knowledge."

McKee had often given the same answer himself. (To Be Continued)

Soldiers Use

congregate at a corner a full block from the school. People gathered on a lawn, flowed over into the sidewalk, and were standing six and eight deep down the street. A youth in a pink shirt, glaring defiance at the soldier, yelled "Why don't you tin soldiers go home."

Meyers picked up the speaker on the public address system in a mobile transmitter unit. "You are again instructed to go to your homes peacefully," he said. "Disperse and return to your home."

The people did not move. They were not menacing. They said nothing. But they did not move. Meyers quietly picked up the walkie-talkie, connecting him with the command post.

He called for two platoons. Almost instantly, the helmeted soldiers came dig-trotting down the street, rifles held across their chests.

Meyers broke the platoon into two groups and ordered them to approach the crowd from the flanks.

Breaking into a run, the soldiers separated. One group headed for the crowd on the sidewalk, the other moved in on the people on the lawn.

They did not appear to touch the people with the bayonets. But they forced those on the sidewalk far down the street. Those on the lawn were herded into the porch. Lt. William F. Neff of Cincinnati, was saying: "You can go to school or you can leave. You can move out or I'll have you moved out."

"Take your choice—now." The people were curiously silent. There was some muttering, but no shouting or real noise. They kept falling back.

The same scene on a smaller scale, was repeated several times between 8 and 9 o'clock.

then, suddenly, at the south end of the school, the barricades parted and an Army station wagon rolled through with jeeps ahead and behind.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—One white man was clucked and another stabbed with a bayonet in a clash with paratroopers who guarded the entrance of nine Negroes to Central High School today.

The clashes came after six Negro girls and three boys walked calmly under armed escort into the previously all-white school to attend classes. A spectator identified as Paul Downs of Springfield, Ark., was stabbed in the arm by a bayonet when he apparently was slow in following orders to move on.

Soldiers said C. E. Blake, 46-year-old railroad employee, tried to grab a paratrooper's rifle. The soldier quickly reversed his hold on the rifle in combat fashion and the but struck Blake over the eye.

He fell to the street. The incident occurred while troops were moving whites back from the school street.

There were no catcalls and no incidents as the students walked into the school encircled by soldiers with fixed bayonets.

Their entrance today in the calm atmosphere contrasted with the bloody riot that followed their attempt to enter Monday.

A number of whites came out of the 2,000-pupil Central High as the Negroes entered. The sign-out room, where students get permission to leave school, was reported full of white children waiting to check.

A cheer went up as the station wagon carrying the Negro children cleared the barricades and stopped, the cheer came from a few Negroes watching from afar.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 20 years old. All during my teens I was terribly fat and never had boy friends. Who would want to take out 180 pounds of girl?

This year I have trimmed down to 130, under a doctor's care. I have all the dates I want. I'm half-way through college and this summer have been working in a hospital. I plan to be a nurse.

Most of the girls I met at the hospital were around 24 or 25 and had the feeling that their days of matrimonial chances were over. They said they should have married at 18 or 20; now they scarcely get a date, much less a proposal.

Here is my problem. Will fellows stop dating me when I'm 22 or 23? I've had two proposals in recent months, both from boys I think I could learn to love. I don't want to get married now, but wonder if delay will be fatal?

N. A.

Dear N. A.: There are worse things than single blessedness, and one of them is marital wretchedness. Don't ever take a chance on the latter to avoid the former. Certainly there's no reason that your dates will cease when you reach the advanced age of 23.

Many girls get married after that. Perhaps the nurses you met at the hospital exaggerated their earlier conquests, or perhaps their dispositions don't stand up under long acquaintance. Don't be influenced by their cynicism, finish college, get started on your career. Somewhere along the line you'll meet Mr. Right and there will be absolutely no doubt about your love for him.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm employed in a local factory, where I've been since graduating last June. I get along fine with all the girls. Recently a married woman of 24, with two children joined our shift. She seemed to be a nice person, but lately I've noticed an 18-year-old boy hanging around a awful lot, and she has been seen at a drive-in with another very young boy. She could easily pass for 18 or 19, and I bet she tells the fellows she's single. Do you think we should tell her to leave the boys alone or should we tell the boys she's 24 and married?

LOIS

Dear Lois: If you want to get along in the business world, you must observe one cardinal rule (among others, of course). This is simply, mind your own business. Furthermore, the personal lives of your co-workers are no concern of yours. If their work is performed satisfactorily and they cause you no trouble, nothing else is of

Two U.S. Jets Collide Over The Atlantic

LONDON (AP)—Two 1000-mile-an-hour U. S. jet fighters collided in mid-air today while taking part in NATO air-sea exercises.

Two other American planes carrying four men each were reported missing during the recent search for marauding "enemy" submarines in the maneuvers.

The single-seater F4D Sky Ray fighters were based on the U. S. aircraft carrier Saratoga. The other craft, F2S trackers, were from the carrier Essex.

The carriers are part of a NATO "Blue" striking force attacking an "Orange" fleet of submarines and other "enemy" targets between Iceland and Norway.

Announcing the collision of the fighters, a NATO spokesman in London added: "At the same time reports were received that two F2S antisubmarine trackers from the U. S. S. Essex were overdue. It is believed the trackers may also have collided but that is not confirmed."

More than 100 ships and 700 aircraft, taking part in the seven-day exercise "Strikeback," broke off maneuvers to search for the planes and survivors.

State Rests in Murder Trial

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The state has rested its case in the second trial of Charlie McDaniel who is charged with second degree murder in the fatal shooting of W. J. Morrow in July 1956.

Morrow, a Clarksville attorney, was killed at his home about nine miles northeast of Clarksville. The state charged that he was shot in a dispute over ownership of the farm on which he was living.

McDaniel, a Clarksville resident, pleaded self defense. His first trial resulted in a hung jury.

Morrow's widow, his stepson Arnie Rhodes and Mrs. McDaniel Arnie Rhodes and Mrs. McDaniel were among those called to testify yesterday.

The defense was expected to complete its case today.

Once resistance to the federal court ceases, the troops will be recalled, he said, and then: "The city of Little Rock will return to its normal habits of peace and order and high honor of our nation in the world will be removed."

The safety of American and of the free world is already in jeopardy, Eisenhower said, because: "Our enemies are gloating over this incident and using it everywhere to misrepresent our nation. We are portrayed as a violator of those standards of conduct which the peoples of the world united to proclaim in the charter of the United Nations."

"It would be difficult to exaggerate the harm that is being done to the prestige and influence, and indeed to the safety, of our nation and the world."

Why "Good-Time Charlie" Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Most Southern officials hit hard at President Eisenhower's decision to use federal troops to enforce school integration in Little Rock while Northerners backed his action as necessary to preserve law and order.

"Federal force must be used in this situation to put down force," said Adlai Stevenson, twice beaten by Eisenhower for the presidency. Stevenson termed the Little Rock situation a national disaster, but he said the President had no choice. He said Gov. Orval Faubus (behaved irresponsibly in using the Arkansas National Guard to thwart integration.

A Southern governor, A. B. Chandler of Kentucky, agreed that Eisenhower had no choice. Chandler, an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960 said, "We can't have anarchy and mob rule."

Sen. Oli Johnston (D-SC) talked of armed resistance.

Hope Men Are Entered in Contest

MISSOURI VALLEY Iowa - A goose caller who uses his chest as a sounding board will defend his title in the seventh annual meet here Saturday and Sunday.

Bull-shouldered Angus McCain of Lake Charles La. and Hope Ark. won the world's championship goose calling contest last year by muffling his call over his chest.

McCain recently joined Jack Ray of Hope Ark. who finished third last year to manufacture geese and duck calls. Ray also will be among the contestants.

The junior world's goose calling champion - 9-year-old Kent Strain of Modale, Iowa will defend his title.

Two former champions will be in the class schol field. They are time winner Frank Heidebauer of Ankeny, Iowa and Clarence Faulk of Lake Charles, La. Mrs. Patricia Peacock Ward 2-time winner of the world's duck calling championship in her home town of Stuttgart, Ark., also will be in the senior field.

The senior winner will be awarded a $1000 savings bond and trophy. This year's meet will offer titles and prizes in both boys' and girls' classes.

Braves Again Blast Second Place Cardinals

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

If streak-hitter Hank Aaron can keep his big bat boommin' it may be "Katie bar the door!" when the Milwaukee Braves and New York Yankees meet in the World Series next week.

Hammrin's Henry who hits in spurts but remains dangerous any time he comes to the plate is on a whole of a ride at the moment batting .415 with four home runs and 12 BIs in a 10-game streak. It's no coincidence that his streak overlaps the eight-game streak that brought Milwaukee the National League flag.

It was Aaron's two-run homer in the 11th that nailed the pennant in Monday's 4-2 victory over St. Louis and it was his first major league grand-slam home run that made last night's 6-1 decision over the second-place Cardinals a cinch.

It was Aaron's 44th home run of the year third in three days and kept him in the major league lead while southpaw Warren Spahn Milwaukee's probable choice for the World Series opener a week from today won his 21st.

With the pennant decided the rest of the NL clubs scrambled for the leftovers last night.

Comments of Coaches

(This column will appear each week through football season. Comments on the previous Friday night Bobcat game and the game scouted by the Hope coaches will be given.)

'HOPE VS DEQUEEN

Coach Leon Turpin: "Most of our boys gave 100% effort. There were two or three things that hurt us but the main thing that hurt us was Jerry Killian. Boothe's injury in the first quarter hurt our offense. We especially missed his speed to the outside, where we needed to run after they stopped us in the middle."

"In DeQueen's last touchdown drive, penalties in key situations hurt us. Of course, we committed them and should have been penalized but it really hurt, especially when it looked like we had them stopped."

Coach John Pierce: "The line looked real good most of the game, but still lack the spirit and hustle of two champions. If they, (the Bobcats) really expect to win the conference, they had better start shaping up pretty quick because we won't have another easy game this season."

"In other words, all the rest will be like the one Friday night at DeQueen."

A LOOK AT SMACKOVER

Coach Gordon Beasley: "Smackover showed us one of the hardest running full backs we've seen this season. (with the exception of DeQueen's Killian). It seems their offense is built around this boy."

"As a team, they're a little smaller than we are, but like other small teams, they make up for that in hustle. Coach Sevier and I feel like the Buckaroos have a good team, but if the Bobcats will go all out, they should get off to a good start in conference play."

Coach Don Sevier: "Coach Brown has his Smackover boys well coached. They are about average speed in the line with good speed in the backfield. They have a very good fullback, that's really a hard runner. They have a good QB who completed 5 out of 9 passes at Fairview last Friday night."

I think Smackover has a very good team and Hope is going to

Oklahoma and A&M Rated Top Grid 11

By The Associated Press

The Oklahoma Sooners whose decisive opening victory over Pittsburgh supported the preseason balloting that nominated them as the nation's No. 1 college football team of 1957 can't lose this week.

After reaching the heights to smash Pitt regarded as the East's best 26-0 Oklahoma has an idle Saturday before meeting its first Big Eight rival Iowa State Oct. 5.

Meanwhile the sports writers and broadcasters who picked Oklahoma first in the preseason Associated Press ranking poll reiterated their belief by voting the Sooners the No. 1 rank in the first weekly poll after the start of the season.

The results of Saturday's games brought several changes in the preseason ranking order. Of 79 writers and broadcasters participating in this week's poll 65 voted Oklahoma first; 4 put Michigan State on top; 2 voted for Duke and single first-place votes went to Navy, Minnesota and Iowa.

In the point scoring on the usual 10-9-8 etc. basis it was Oklahoma 720, Texas A&M 460, Georgia Tech 374, and Michigan State 354. Completing this week's first 10 were Navy, Minnesota, Duke, Tennessee, Oregon State, and Michigan.

The top 10 with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Oklahoma (65)
2. Texas A&M
3. Georgia Tech
4. Michigan State (4)
5. Navy (1)
6. Minnesota (1)
7. Duke (2)
8. Tennessee
9. Oregon State
10. Michigan

The second 10:

11. Baylor
12. Iowa (1)
13. Texas
14. Houston
15. Southern Methodist
16. Pittsburgh
17. Stanford (tie)
18. Rice
19. Mississippi
20. Penn State (tie)

have to be ready and play 100% football to beat them."
